H. Intelligence:

The S-2 section continued to receive and compile intelligence gathered by the Air Cavalry troops. This intelligence along with all other intelligence gathered by the Division is being compiled on a day by day basis. Through the use of this combined intelligence the S-2 section is forecasting the "Top 10" areas of interest in the Division A.O. These areas are transmitted to the Air Cav troops for further VR and ~~or~~ ground exploitation.

Activity in the 1st Bde AO during the ~~past quarter~~ ^{YEAR} has found main force units remaining out of identifiable contact for the first two (2) months of the reporting period. During the last month of the period contact was made with the 272 Regt. to the west of FSB Carolyn. This activity continued through the month, map tracing their movement to a point southwest of FSB Ike. Activity with the 272 Regt. resulted in 154 NVA KIA. VR continues throughout the entire AO with emphasis on unit identification.

Activity in the 2nd Bde during the reporting period again found main force units remaining out of identifiable contact. During this period the 5th VC Division moved into a location northeast of LZ Buttons, however, this move resulted in only light contact with units from the 1/9. During the last three weeks of the reporting period the 174 Regt. was identified northeast of FSB Mary. Local force activities to the southwest and east of LZ Button have caused little activity during this quarter. Emphasis continues on further exploitation of the 174 Regt.

Activity in the 3rd Bde as in the first and second has found main force units remaining out of identifiable contact for extended periods of time. VR pick-up the 141 Regt. northeast of FSB Deb and map traced the unit north of Quan Loi inflicting heavy casualties. Late in the reporting period the 141 Regt. was again identified northwest of FSB Ellen. This identification resulted in 40 NVA KIA in one day. Emphasis continues on further exploitation of the 141 Regt.

L. Safety

1. Currently, maximum effort is being placed on updating the Squadron Safety SOP and flight standardization.
2. One of the difficulties being experienced in aviation safety has been the influence of new, relatively inexperienced personnel while the more experienced personnel, IP's and SIP's are rotating. The Squadron is now in the process of instituting what should prove to be a most effective flight standardization program.
